ART AND THE LAYMAN. Henray R. Poore Gives the First Art Lecture of the Season,

first art lecture of the season was given Monday evening at Slater Memorial under the auspices of the Art Students' association. Miss Nancy E. Lucas introduced the lecturer, Henry R. Poore of New York and Lyme, who spoke upon Art and the Layman. He said that art and religion both have their well-springs in emotion. And like religion art must have converts. It is conceded to be a good thing, which ought to be maintained by someone.

The layman who is used to good

The layman who is used to good prose, good poetry, good music, has mastered the fundamental principles of all good style and is competent to judge of art also. To be a sane and valuable judge of art, the question of like and dislike must not be allowed to appear. These have no value.

A mistaken idea is the separation of realism and idealism. The two should be combined and form a composite of nature and man's specific will. Roden is a realist. Only the ancients were idealists, Greek art is impersonal. Watts of England comes nearest to them in modern times. Then there is the critic who sees but one way in art. The method of his choice is the only way in his opinion.

Some will have only old masters and others only the latest modern.

There is a reason for methods but only by a knowledge of fundamentals can our country form a national taste in art.

Hector McClure Was Lying on Track 8 o'clock.
Moderator Spalding called attention Moderator Spalding called attention to the tax of 12 1-4 mills called for by the selectmen to meet the needs of the town. Of this 12 1-4 mills, 8 mills are asked by the selectmen and 6 1-4 mills by the town school board. The selectmen had no desire to influence any vote on the various petitions, but they felt that they had a right to explain their own needs. He called attention to $24,035.12 state tax that had to be paid and the $3,800 sinking fund item and also the $18,000 paid by the town to the city for highways. These amounted to a two mill tax. Every estimate in th elist, he said had been pared as low as good judgment warrants. ment warrants.

Reports Accepted.

The reading of the notice for the meeting was dispensed with. The printed report of the selectmen was approved, as also all the other printed town reports issued in the usual pamphlet form. The report of the town school committee and the Otis library trustees were also approved.

Salaries Voted. It was voted that the salaries of the town officers be the same as last year and the tax collector's compensation was voted at 1 per cent, upon the tax collected, the usual compensation.

For Concrete Bridges. Regarding the $10,286.04 for bridges on which last year $2,356.27 was ex-pended, Moderator Spalding explained the wish of the selectmen to build cement bridges, of which previously only two have been built. The old bridges were not built of a strength for pres-ent day travel and repairs would re-quire a considerable amount of money. If this item is voted there will be quite a few cement bridges built. The sum of $10,286.04 was voted. The mod-erator said the figures on several bridges had already been received.

Further appropriations were voted Contingent $3,000, last year $9,282.89: Interest $12,000, last year expended $10.402; election expenses $4,000, last year expended $2,932.40; a greater sum is needed this year because it is a state election; registry of vital sta-tistics $1,500, expended last year $1,543.78; Chelsea Parade walks $1,600,
